

1    ABSTRACT

2    A system and method for facilitating personal physical fitness diagnostic evaluations 3    including a handheld electronic device having input and output means is provided with 4    formulas for calculating predetermined diagnostic physical fitness indicators, where a 5    user inputs data and an output is generated therefrom for indicating the physical fitness of 6    an individual based on predetermined parameters.